Canadian legend Christine Sinclair's final international match to air live on OneSoccer and TSN

Final Canada Soccer Women's National Team match of 2023 will also air live to millions worldwide on Network 10 in Australia, Fox Sports 2 in the US, Flow Sports in the Caribbean and Sky Sports in Mexico, Central America and the Dominican Republic

MEDIAPRO Canada will produce full match nine-camera coverage plus pre- and post-game segments hosted by award-winning broadcaster Andi Petrillo

TORONTO: November 30th, 2023: Canada Soccer's Women's National Team's upcoming international friendly against Australia's Matildas, representing the final international appearance for Canadian legend Christine Sinclair, will be broadcast live on OneSoccer and on TSN in a move that will ensure widespread national coverage of the match. The addition of TSN was made possible with the help of Canadian Soccer Business (CSB) and through the generosity and support of corporate sponsors CIBC and Visa.

The match, which will kick off at 7pm PT/10pm ET at BC Place Stadium in Vancouver, BC on Tuesday, Dec. 5th, will see Sinclair earn her 330th and final cap for the Canadian Women's National Team. The Canadian captain, a native of Burnaby, BC, will retire as the top goalscorer in the international game with 190 goals to her name. BC Place will temporarily be renamed "Christine Sinclair Place" for the night, in recognition of Sinclair's legendary career.

Sinclair's teammates and fellow Olympic champions Erin McLeod and Sophie Schmidt, who announced their retirements from the international game earlier this year, will also be recognized on Dec. 5th. Sinclair has represented Canada at the international level since 2000, McLeod since 2002 and Schmidt since 2005.

OneSoccer's live coverage will begin at 6pm PT/9pm ET with a 60' pre-game segment hosted by Andi Petrillo. TSN's live coverage will commence with a special hour-long pre-game show hosted by Lindsay Hamilton at 6pm PT/9pm ET on TSN, TSN.ca and the TSN app.

Commenting on the match, Martijn Bakx, CEO, MEDIAPRO Canada, said: "OneSoccer's commitment to provide Canadian soccer fans with the most compelling stories in the Canadian game continues with this historical match recognizing Christine Sinclair as the most iconic soccer star in Canadian history. The broad distribution of this game is a celebration of Christine's tremendous career and a testament to her enormous impact on soccer in the country. I can only hope her legacy continues to inspire fans and stakeholders of the game to believe in the power of soccer in Canada."

"We are thrilled that this agreement will allow Canadian soccer fans nationwide to join in the celebration of the careers of legends Christine Sinclair, Sophie Schmidt and Erin McLeod," said Glen Johnson, Executive Vice President, Canadian

Soccer Business. “We would like to thank MEDIAPRO Canada and TSN, and most importantly our corporate sponsors at CIBC and Visa for ensuring this match gets the distribution fans of Canadian soccer deserve.”

The match will be Canada’s second of two friendlies against Australia in BC, after they host the Matildas at Starlight Stadium in Langford, BC on Friday, Dec. 1 . Australia’s Women’s National team is coming off of an inspired performance at the FIFA Women's World Cup Australia & New Zealand 2023TM, when the host nation took the country by storm on its path to the tournament semifinals.

Subscribers to OneSoccer outside of Canada will be able to watch the match online or via the OneSoccer app, while Australian fans will be able to enjoy free-to-air coverage on Network 10 and through the Paramount+ streaming service as part of a four-year media rights deal sealed in 2021 between Football Australia and Paramount.

South of the border, the match will air live on Fox Sports 2 in the United States; on Flow Sports, the cable sports channel available in 26 Caribbean territories; and on Sky Sports, carried throughout Mexico, Central America and the Dominican Republic. Coverage on OneSoccer in Canada and worldwide and the agreements sealed by MEDIAPRO Canada with TSN, Fox Sports, Flow Sports and Sky Sports, and by Canada Soccer with Paramount mean that the match will be available to millions of viewers worldwide.

About OneSoccer

OneSoccer is the dedicated soccer channel operated by MEDIAPRO Canada. OneSoccer is available as a linear channel on Optik TV (Ch.980), the pay-TV service operated by Telus, one of Canada’s ‘big three’ telecoms companies, as well as on streaming service fuboTV Canada, where it sits alongside a range of other premium sports offerings, including Premier League and Serie A channels. The service is also offered as an affordable streaming service through the OneSoccer.ca website, via Roku, Chromecast and Apple TV devices and with the OneSoccer app for iOS and Android devices.

MEDIAPRO Canada, the Canadian subsidiary of Spain’s GRUP MEDIAPRO, holds a long-term partnership with Canadian Soccer Business for the worldwide media rights to the Canadian Premier League, the country’s first-division men's professional soccer league; the Canadian Championship, Canada Soccer’s domestic soccer cup competition involving all professional soccer clubs in Canada including Major League Soccer’s Toronto FC, CF Montréal and the Vancouver Whitecaps; the home friendly matches of Canada Soccer’s Women’s and Men’s National Teams; and a range of international content including the Dutch Eredivisie, the Chinese Super League, all matches involving Canadian striker Jonathan David’s club Lille OSC of France’s Ligue 1; and the matches the international programming block (IPB) of Premier League club Manchester City.

MEDIAPRO Canada owns MEDIAPRO Broadcast Services Canada (MBSC), a full-service company offering a fleet of seven mobile broadcast units serving all of North America, as well as turnkey hosting broadcasting solutions, AutomaticTV automated sports production systems, air-packs, Haivision remote broadcast solutions, transmission services and crewing. Its newly-expanded fleet of mobile units includes Odyssey, the first mid-size 4K mobile in North America, and Alto, a 53’ fully-equipped 1080p HDR expando mobile, with capability for 20 cameras.

At its state-of-the-art facilities just outside of Toronto, MBSC operates two television studios with satellite, fiber and IP connectivity and REMI capability, a cloud playout service and a complete rentals division. In just four years, the company has become one of the leading services companies in North America and is a major employer of broadcast professionals in the Canadian market.

About Canadian Soccer Business

Canadian Soccer Business (CSB) represents a suite of top-tier national assets that are central to the sport of soccer in Canada. This includes representation for all corporate partnerships and media rights (broadcast and distribution) related to Canada Soccer's core assets including the Men's National Team, the Olympic Champion Women's National Team, the Canadian Championship, along with all rights associated with the Canadian Premier League and League1 Canada.

MEDIA CONTACT

MEDIAPRO Canada

Catherine Davies

cdavies@mediapro.tv

Cell: + 1 250 889 1939

Canada Soccer's Women's National Team v Australia - LIVE BROADCAST COVERAGE

TERRITORY	DEC 1ST, STARLIGHT STADIUM	KICKOFF	DEC 5TH, BC PLACE	KICKOFF
Canada	OneSoccer (OneSoccer.ca, OneSoccer app, Telus Optik TV, fuboTV)	• 7:30pm PT • 10:30pm ET	OneSoccer (OneSoccer.ca, OneSoccer app, Telus Optik TV, fuboTV), TSN	• 7:00pm PT • 10:00pm ET
Rest of World	OneSoccer (OneSoccer.ca, OneSoccer app)	• 3.30am UTC • (Dec 2nd)	OneSoccer (OneSoccer.ca, OneSoccer app)	• 3.00am UTC (Dec 6th)
Australia	Network 10, Paramount+	• 2.30pm AEDT (Dec 2nd)	Network 10, Paramount+	• 2.00pm AEDT (Dec 6th)
United States	Fox Sports 2 (FS2)	• 7:30pm PT • 10:30pm ET	Fox Sports 2 (FS2)	• 7:00pm PT • 10:00pm ET
Caribbean (26 territories)	n/a	• 10.30pm ET	Flow Sports (Flow, Digicel, most cable platforms)	• 10.00pm ET
Mexico, Central America, DR	Sky Sports DTH, Blue-to-Go (Mexico only)	• 9.30pm CST	Sky Sports DTH, Blue-to-Go (Mexico only)	• 9.00pm CST

Visit OneSoccer.ca for more information, including One Month and Annual passes. OneSoccer is also available on Telus Optik TV Ch. 980 and fuboTV